Blake McGrath, Mark Goodman, Ade Obayomi

Open to the public and current DM students - CALL TO RESERVE YOUR SPOT!

Blake McGrath was introduced to the world as a finalist on the hit TV show So You Think You Can Dance. His notoriety continued to grow appearing on Jennifer Lopez's TV run, Dance Life. McGrath has danced and worked with some of the biggest recording icons in the world including Michael Jackson, Janet Jackson, Britney Spears, Madonna, Beyonce, and Mariah Carey. From the stage to the big screen, his credits range from the Academy Award winning film Chicago to the Pulitzer and Tony Award winning adaptation of the musical Rent. McGrath has also appeared in numerous commercials with the esteemed brands Pepsi, Gap, Old Navy, Hummer, and iPod. He continues to judge and choreograph on So You Think You Can Dance: Canada in addition to facilitating the world's largest dance convention Coastal Dance Rage.

Mark Goodman, Hooper, Choreographer, and Master Teacher, travels and teaches both in the United States and internationally. After graduating from the University of New Hampshire, he joined The American Tap Dance Orchestra and has worked with the renowned tap legends Gregory Hines, Savion Glover, Buster Brown, and Sandman Sims. Goodman's performance venues include Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center, and with Savion Glover and Friends at Central Park. His stage performance credits include 42nd Street, No No Nanette and Anything Goes. Goodman has also appeared in the hit Warner Brother's movie The Polar Express with Tom Hanks, and is currently working on a screenplay based on the legend of Don Quixote. He continues to run his LA based tap company, MGTP, which fuses New York swing-style tap with world rhythms.

Ade Obayomi's early credits include holding the Arizona State Gymnastic Champion title, dancing with Les Grands Ballet Canadiens de Montreal and touring with the film "A Diva's Christmas Carol." Obayomi has trained and competed nationwide in ballet, tap, jazz, contemporary, African and Hip Hop dance, but is most known for being a semi-finalist on the hit TV show So You Think You Can Dance. He continues to perform with top artists such as Beyoncé, Alicia Keys, and Rihanna, in addition to traveling and teaching master classes.
